TO: Public Works Board
FROM: Cecilia Gardener, Executive Director
SUBJECT: Introducing Three New Public Works Board Members

We are pleased to announce the appointment of three new members to the Public Works Board:

Lisa Ayers

Position #5, Representing County Elected Officials, Term ends 06/30/2019

Lisa Ayers grew up in Woodland, Washington. She went to work for the Pacific County Commissioners in 2004 as the county's Management and Fiscal Analyst. She was elected to her first term as Pacific County Commissioner District #3 in 2010, and re-elected in 2014. Prior to her county employment, she served as assistant to the City of Raymond Public Works Director. As a military spouse, living on both coasts, Lisa has had diverse experience opportunities from waiting tables to running heavy equipment. Lisa has Associates' degrees in Computer Science and Accounting. She served on the Governor's Blue Ribbon Panel on Ocean Acidification, and is currently a member of the Washington Association of Counties Legislative Steering Committee and an executive committee member of the Washington Counties Risk Pool.

This year will mark her 35th anniversary married to her high school sweetheart. She has two daughters and five grandchildren.

KC Kuykendall

Position #1, Representing City Elected Officials, Term ends 06/30/2019

KC Kuykendall is a seasoned business professional, active in community and economic development initiatives in southeast Washington. He lives in Waitsburg and has spent the last twenty-plus years in technology development and deployment, infrastructure engineering, strategic planning, master planning, economic development, and Energy systems engineering across the U.S. and internationally.

KC is an Oregon State University graduate in Mechanical Engineering, and completed his graduate work at University of Colorado in Environmental Policy and Law.
